Attorneys Interview Pioneers And Pilots In Boundary Dispute

Michigan and Wisconsin Representatives Seek Information on Channel

ROW INVOLVES MILLIONS

More Than 300 Exhibits Include Ancient Records, Map and Log Books

By Associated Press

Menominee Mich. — Attorneys of two states interested in the Michigan-Wisconsin boundary dispute accompanied by county commissioners appointed to take depositions in the case, left Thursday for Washington Island, off Door-co, Wis., on the Mc-Comb yacht, Betty, for the purpose of taking testimony of old pioneers and lake pilots concerning early Green Bay channels which may in part determine the controversy involving a Michigan property claim estimated at $12,000,000.

The dispute involves the entire Michigan-Wisconsin boundary claim of jurisdiction over hundreds of islands and may mean a change in the established surveyed boundary between Hurley, Wis., and the Montreal river to Lake Vieux Desert, throwing the town of Hurley into Michigan jurisdiction if the claims of Michigan are sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States on Nov. 10.

The islands in dispute in Green Bay, but now belonging to Wisconsin, include Rock, Washington, Detroit, Flum, Hog, the Strawberry group and Chambers island.

The Wisconsin defense is based on the first established Bry channel claiming all islands to the right of that channel, including those mentioned to be the property of Wisconsin. On the other hand, Michigan claims by a later "usual route channel" cutting in between the islands named and the head of Door-co peninsula, that the islands belong to her.

NEVER ACCEPTED SURVEY

Michigan claims never to have accepted the government survey and award in the established surveyed boundary between the Montreal river and Lake Vieux Desert and therefore is not bound to recognize the survey.

On the other hand Michigan contends that it is entitled to the claim to a boundary from the west branch of the Montreal to Lake Isle, which would run in a straight line considerably south of the present line.

The final portion of the disputed area from the head of the Brul river to Green Bay may involve difficulties that may take years of survey work to ultimately determine the center of the established and present channels on which the high court must finally decide. According to R. M. Reiser, Wisconsin legal representative, and A. L. Sawyer, Michigan attorney, the whole commercial history of upper Lake Michigan will figure in the case.

Late Wednesday an agreement of attorneys was entered into whereby it was agreed that more than 200
Wisconsin and 100 Michigan exhibits would be admitted. These include maps, some of them going back to the seventeenth century, accounts of ship logs and writings of early traders, rivermen and pioneers.

40 Killed In Odessa Rail Wreck

By Associated Press

Odessa—Forty passengers were killed and a large number were injured when the express from Odessa to Moscow which left here Wednesday night, was derailed 200 miles from here. The accident was caused by a break in the track which apparently had been purposely torn from its bed by unknown persons.

The train was going at high speed when the accident took place. The engine was hurled onto its side and its boiler exploded, causing a fire which spread rapidly to the coaches of the train. Relief trains were de-patched from the nearest station and from Odessa where word is being awaited of the definite number of victims.

Rohlf will not be taken to Leavenworth, however, until some time next week, it was stated. Meantime he banker accepted the eight year sentence calmly without any comment.

SEEK WIFE OF SLEUTH HELD FOR ROBBERY

Postal Inspectors Would Question Woman in Connection with Mail Holdup

By Associated Press

Chicago—Postal inspectors Thursday sought Mrs. William Fahy, who they say has disappeared since the arrest of her husband known as an "ace" of inspectors here, on charges of alleged complicity in the $2,000,000 Rondout, Ill., mail robbery. She is wanted for questioning in connection with the search being made for the lost which they believe is secreted here.

A woman thought to have been Mrs.
Fahy visited their home Wednesday and left with a bundle of papers in company with a man the inspectors say is a government employee. Fahy's alleged affairs with women, particularly the wife of a man now in jail under indictment for actual participation in the robbery, are under scrutiny.

Meanwhile action has been started by Mrs. Florence Murphy, wife of "Big Tim" Murphy, who is in Leavenworth penitentiary serving a sentence for complicity in the $300,000 Dearborn station mail robbery which Fahy investigated. She charges Fahy with obstructing her husband's efforts "to obtain a parole to which he is eligible."

Fahy, in jail at Geneva, Ill., in default of $50,000 bail, denies the charge and asserts he is the victim of a conspiracy.

GERMAN REDS STOP DAWES PLAN VOTE

Chancellor Marx Determined to Dissolve Reichstag if Bill
Is Defeated

By Associated Press

Berlin — Final balloting in the Reichstag on the bills necessary to carry out Germany's part of the Dawes reparation program has been postponed until Friday because of the prolonged interruptions from the Communist faction. The disturbances in the house Wednesday culminated in general fighting and the Reichstag president was compelled to call in a police squad and have three of the Communists removed.

Unless the Nationalists decide to give the legislative program negative support by permitting defections from their Reichstag lineup when the last vote is taken, there is apparently scant hope of the government obtaining the two-thirds majority required for final passage.

Determined upon ratification of the Dawes program, regardless of the attitude of the deputies, Chancellor
Marx has obtained from President Ebert a decree providing for the dissolution of the Reichstag which he intends to use if the necessary two-thirds vote is not forthcoming.

to an indictment charging contempt of the senate by his refusal to answer questions of the senate committee.

Wales Dances After Losing Three Games

By Associated Press

S. S. Berengaria—Notwithstanding a strenuous day of sport in which he emerged from three events on the losing end, the Prince of Wales again was among the persistent dancers aboard the Berengaria Wednesday evening. He also attended the ship's concert, which was well patronized.

After losing to the American colleagues in the tug of war and also falling in the potato race, the prince took part in the pillow fighting, his opponent being L. E. Bull, a graduate of Harvard. The prince accepted his defeat smilingly as he did in the other events. Lord Louis Mountbatten also fell before an American in the pillow fight.

Thursday morning his Royal Highness was holding an investiture, presented First Officer Walter H. Poole with a reserve decoration for his long service in the British Naval Reserve.

trik. Bernard, said to have once been a barber, is reported to have gathered into his meetings members of exclusive and wealthy circles and to have amassed a fortune. He ran afoul of the police a dozen years ago after neighbors had complained of "goings on" but was dismissed for lack of evidence. He appeared some time ago as head of the Brao Burn Country Club, near Nyack, N. Y., where a new "mystic cult" was rumored as having been started.

HERRIOT WILL PRUNE GOVERNMENT EXPENSE

day decided upon a radical overhauling of governmental expenses with a view towards strictly balancing the budget. It was agreed that Premier of eliminating all unnecessary expense from the budgets of the various ministries.

will go over each budget and prune it whenever necessary in order to hold down next year's expenditures within the nation's income.

Court Strikes Crowe's Words From Records

Judge Denounces State's Attorney's Testimony As Dastardly, Cowardly Attack

WILL GIVE VERDICT SEPT. 10

Attempt to Intimidate Is Implied
As Cause of Fierce Outbreak

By Associated Press

Chicago—After portions of the closing argument of Robert E. Crowe, states attorney, had been stricken from the record by Judge John R.
Caverly as a "cowardly, dastardly attack upon the integrity of this court and an attempt to intimidate it," the court took under advisement Thursday the penalty which he must declare for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed kidnapers and murderers of Robert Franks.

The remarks of the court came out of a clear sky and startled the crowded court room into a shocked silence.

Mr. Crowe's jaw dropped and he blanched visibly under the judicial broadside.

"Your honor, I had—" he began but the judge interrupted him. "The states attorney knew full well that his remarks would be heralded far and wide," said the court. "He knew too the court would have no opportunity to reply or defend himself from criticisms except by the action
he has taken."

The judge then read a prepared statement and at its conclusion announced he would give his decision on Sept. 10, at 9:30 A. M., "unless illness prevents."

Only the defendants, the attorneys for both sides, court attaches and newspaper men will be admitted to the final scene in the famous case.

OUTBREAKS HINTED

The court did not state specifically what portions of Mr. Crowe's remarks aroused his ire. It was recalled however that the state's attorney had referred to possible outbreaks if the death penalty were not imposed and had emphasized the possible power of money in the courts and the wealth of the defendants.

Just before the argument closed,
Mr. Crowe also made a defense of the testimony by James Gortland, one of his staff detectives, that Leopold had expressed a hope to escape the death penalty by pleading guilty "before a friendly judge." This had been denounced by Mr. Darrow as "perjury," and when Mr. Crowe defended it, the court asked the stenographers to give him a special copy of that statement.

None of the attorneys in the case would comment after the proceedings were over. Clarence S. Darrow, Benjamin Bachrach and Walter Bachrach, the defense leaders, said it would be improper, and Mr. Crowe remarked merely that he had "been talking three days."

BRYAN CRITICIZES DEFENSE DAY PLAN

By Associated Press

Lincoln, Neb.—Despite President Coolidge's interpretation of plans for observance of Defense day, Sept. 12,
as a purely voluntary proposition, Governor Bryan, Democratic vice presidential candidate, declared Thursday that the war department is proceeding with its "militaristic program" for the day.

"The war department's plan," Governor Bryan said, "is conflicting and out of harmony with the civil head of the government which is supreme. It is attempting to go ahead with its militaristic program regardless of the fact that the president has said there was no such intention."

"GET 'EM BEFORE THEY GET YOU," BUTLER SAYS

By Associated Press

Philadelphia — Eighty detectives with "shoot to kill" orders issued by Brig. Gen. Butler, director of public safety, cruised about the city early Thursday in bandit-chasing automobiles in a new pre-attack drive on suspicious characters. The general declared he feared a fall crime wave with the return of vacationists from the seashore.

"Go out and shoot everyone with a gun," he ordered his men as they started out late Wednesday night.
"Anyone that threatens you with a gun, kill him. Get those boys before they get you."

Judge Helps Fight Blaze

Three Lakes—Judge Henry M.
Walker of the municipal court of Chicago was the hero of a fire at the Minnewoka girls camp Wednesday. He organized a bucket brigade and valiantly assisted in confining the fire to one building.

Several tanks of gasoline exploded, imperiling the volunteer fire fighters.

The property loss was estimated at several thousand dollars.

Judge Walker who is a guest of the Three Lakes Rod and Gun club, was fishing nearby when the alarm was spread by the explosion of the first gasoline tank.

AUSTRIAN COUNT FINDS HIMSELF WITHOUT COUNTRY

Former Minister of Foreign Affairs of Dual Monarchy Lacks Citizenship

By Associated Press
Prague—Count Berchtold, who was minister for foreign affairs in Austro-Hungary at the outbreak of the great war, now finds himself a man without a country. His citizenship has become so complicated that the old statesman apparently must wire out all his claims and become naturalized in one of the countries which sprang from the old Austro-Hungarian Empire.

After the creation of Czechoslovakia Count Berchtold assumed that he was a citizen of that country. Like hundreds of thousands of other men who had been associated with countries which had fought the entire war, he regarded it desirable to become a Czechoslovakian. Passports from that new land were classed with passports of the neutral powers in Europe. But Count Berchtold apparently forgot that for political reasons he had become naturalized in Hungary about 12 years ago. Consequently the Czechoslovakian government regards him as a Hungarian and refuses to admit his citizenship in the new republic.

Hungary holds that the count has lost his Hungarian citizenship because he has not made use of it for ten years. He can make no claim to being an Austrian, and the distinction he achieved in European politics before the war does not save him from being an untitled nonentity along with hundreds of thousands of other refugees whose citizenship was swallowed up in the remaking of the map of Europe.

CHEFOO SUFFERS AS WOMEN BOB TRESSES

By Associated Press
Long Beach, Calif.—The future commercial prosperity of Chefoo, China, a city of 100,000 population, can be determined only when it is known whether American women will continue to bob their hair or return to flowing tresses, said Captain Milton Minnie, United States vice-consul at Chefoo, while visiting his home here. Business men of Chefoo anxiously await word as to the tressorial mode to be established by American women.

"Chefoo's chief industry is making hair nets and they sell $5,000,000 worth to this country each year, in addition to exporting $3,000,000 worth to France and other countries," said Captain Minnie.

"The hair is gathered from all parts of the world and the weaving is done by Chinese girls. Much of it is done in private homes and inspected at a factory. Factory experts get more pay than those that work at home, drawing as high as seven cents a day. In China the price for the nets runs from $1 to $2 per cross."

Deserted in Appleton by honeymooners whose marriage they witnessed at Chicago, is the plight of the Misses Frieda Odgaard and Florence Kuhlman of Kenyon, Minn. The girls are stranded at a local hotel awaiting money from home, they said, for which they wired but as yet have received no answer.

Mrs. John Engel, Sr., has returned to her home after a three months' visit in the east.

Ford Runs 57 Miles On Gallon of Gasoline

A new automatic and self-regulating device has been invented by John A. Strensky, 3912 Fourth-st., Pukwana, South Dakota, with which automobiles have made from 35 to 57 miles on a gallon of gasoline. It removes carbon and reduces spark plug trouble and overheating. It can be installed by any one in five minutes. Mr. Strensky wants distributors and is willing to send a sample at his own risk. Write him today. adv.

Red Seal Records

DOUBLE-FACED
Number List Price

[Little Orphan Annie (Riley-Krell) Louise Homer] 1028 $1.50

[The Barnyard Song (Wyman-Buckway) Louise Homer] 1029 1.50

James Whitcomb Riley's familiar poem and a folk-poem from the Kentucky mountains, sung with fine appreciation of their dramatic humor. This record will give you broader views of life.

[A Kiss in the Dark (Harber) Fritz Kreisler] 1029 1.50

[Waltzing Doll (Palkai-Kreidler) Fritz Kreisler] 1029 1.50

A record which is a memorial to Victor Herbert. Kreisler pays tribute to his friend the dead composer by playing his waltz melody from "Orange Blossoms." A superb record.

Vocal Selections

[Go Down Moses (Heav'n, Heav'n) Marian Anderson] 19370 .75

[Heav'n, Heav'n (Heav'n, Heav'n) Marian Anderson] 19370 .75

Beautiful records of old spirituals by this gifted colored contralto. The first number has weird, rich harmonies; the second is lighter in spirit. Thrilling records—by a thrilling voice.

[Oh Sole, Oh Mel—2d Installment (Lou Holtz) 19043 .75

[I Can't Get the One I Want (Lou Holtz) 19043 .75

A new collection of Lou's burlesque stanzas on "O Sole Mio," which he sings to an undercurrent of tango music; and a fox trot song. Records which possess the true spirit of farce.

Melodious Instrumental

[Persian March (Johann Strauss) The Goldman Band] 19371 .75

[Egyptian March (Johann Strauss) The Goldman Band] 19371 .75

You have heard of Strauss waltzes, but Strauss marches—of which these are two fine examples—are not so well known. Barbaric, brilliant "Oriental" marches. Stirring band records.

[Fundamental Rhythms No. 1 (In 2/4 measure) Victor Orch.] 19396 .75

[Fundamental Rhythms No. 2 (In 3/4 measure) Victor Orch.] 19396 .75

[Fundamental Rhythms No. 3 (In 4/4 measure) Victor Orch.] 19397 .75

[Fundamental Rhythms No. 4 (In 6/8 measure) Victor Orch.] 19397 .75

A delightful little collection of European folk-songs arranged for a small orchestra. While they are primarily for educational purposes, these records will delight every one.

Dance Records

[The Song of Songs—Fox Trot (Paul Whiteman and His Orch.) 19402 .75

[My Dream Girl—Medley Waltz (The Troubadours) 19402 .75

A wonderfully beautiful and melodious fox trot, and a marvelous waltz from Victor Herbert's very last musical comedy, "The Dream Girl." A good combination to have in one record.

[I Want to Be Happy—Fox Trot (Jan Garber and His Orchestra) 19404 .75

[I Never Care About Tomorrow—Fox Trot (His Orchestra) 19404 .75

A dashing fox trot, from "No Nannette," which will bring happiness to dancers. "I Never Care" is a fine companion. Irrespressible dance records.

[Hinky Dinky Parlay Voo—Fox Trot (Jan Garber and His Orch.) 19405 .75

[You'll Never Get to Heaven with Those Eyes (George Olsen and His Music) 19405 .75

—Fox Trot "Hinky Dinky Parlay Voo" on a fox trot record. It is in a sort of two-step rhythm and has a lot of features. The reverse pairs well with it, for this record, too, has plenty of life.

SOCIALISM, LIBERALISM, CONSERVATISM

President-elect Calles, of Mexico has gone to Europe to study the labor governments there. One or another kind of labor, social, or liberal administration exists in Great Britain, Scandinavia, France and Germany. General Calles and his followers are socialistic, to an extent communistic. He desires to investigate the general liberal or radical tendency abroad.

The mistake which most of us make consists in regarding socialism or communism as a political or economic principle for social betterment. There is a wide difference between socialism and communism. The latter is a chimerical theory which leads to political and social chaos. Socialism is an idealistic state of mind, a reaction against tyranny and abuse, which tends toward communism, but generally drifts toward liberalism.

The people of Mexico have had nothing to say for generations in the management of their government. Leaders have profited from position or power. Most of the land has been owned by a wealthy minority. The socialistic sentiment in Mexico is a stage in a revolt against corruption and misrule.

Calles is an honest thinker and a keen observer. But he may not be able to see the causes actively in Europe or the ends to which the reaction of socialism will lead. Yet his inquiry will give him new ideas, and on returning home he may think along more conservative lines, or should we say, more liberal lines?

Any form of government or administration which ignores or underestimates the rights and welfare, the liberty of the individual, develops into paternalism, radical or conservative. Paternalism centers power in government. In the ultimate there is but little difference, in fact, between socialism and communism. In fact, there is little difference between them and any sort of highly centralized government.

To divide the vast estates of Mexico among the people, compensating the former owners, is not socialistic from any standpoint. It is a movement to destroy one type of paternalism. But to nationalize business or lands, is paternalism.

The radical drift in the United States is socialistic. It is paternalistic. It is contrary to the policy of individualism. The object of popular, modern government is to extend freedom and opportunity to all. All have freedom and opportunity, not when the government is strongly centralized in any system, but when the individual has freedom and opportunity.

WOMEN IN CONGRESS

The women's party has decided that there should be more women in congress. No particular reasons are advanced in support of such a proposition except that England and Germany have more women legislators than we, and that we need "the women's point of view" in our law-making.

No woman should be elected to any legislative, judicial or executive place merely because she is a woman. No man is elected because he is a man. It isn't a matter of sex, but it is a matter of reputed or real capacity to serve the public. Nor is "the woman's point of view" important—it isn't of the slightest consequence, because it cannot exist. Legislation involves right against wrong, the need of good against evil, of benefit to the whole country as against the reverse. There can be no distinctive or exclusive point of view among women as women in such case any more than among men, and there never will be.

Always, in matters of official life—in politics—women must work and think and vote just as men do, and be divided by their varying mental attitudes just as men are. It is impossible for them, as it is for men, to be always in agreement on all subjects and they alone. The sex alignment or attitude gets its advocates and sponsors nowhere at all.

Neither is it true that legislative bodies are improved by the mere presence of women therein, for all women are necessarily good and competent. Something more potent than that is needed, as, for instance, intelligence, character and the capacity for great and wise service. Only by and through such attributes is officialdom made better. There's a big place in politics and the civil service for women, but they will never attain it so long as they insist on capitalizing their sex.

IN MEMORY OF DANIEL BOONE

Those adventurers, explorers and settlers who penetrated the wilderness beyond the Alleghenies, beyond the Mississippi, beyond the Missouri, beyond the Rockies, were forerunners of civilization and pioneers of progress. They contributed inestimable service which increased the happiness and wealth of the nation, and the benefits of their sacrifice and boldness accrue to following generations. Many left no visible traces of their great service. Many are remembered only as rough cavaliers, who struck out into unknown territory in quest of wealth or thrills. The fame of hundreds, perhaps thousands, of these daring pioneers is localized in states, counties, cities, hamlets. Wherever any of them left permanent remembrances of their daring, their reputation endures. Counties, towns, townships, banks, buildings, parks, public improvements are named after them, or statues or memorials are raised in their honor.

Daniel Boone is one whose fame is national. He lives in story and legend, and he probably always will be a picturesque figure in the annals relating the opening of the South and West. His renown rests particularly on his explorations and pioneering in Kentucky, but he did as much, in some ways, for Missouri, and now citizens of this latter state have started a movement to do him special honor by preserving his home, near St. Charles, built by him and his son in the year 1800. Missouri was Spanish soil when Daniel Boone arrived there, but the commandant at St. Louis welcomed him and presented him a tract of land beyond the Missouri river. Boone is a familiar name in several sections of Missouri, for he left an impress on the future of that state, as he did on the future of Kentucky. Boone was a romantic character, and his popularity is national, even international, as he personifies the progress of the white man on the wild, undeveloped land of the Indian. He is typical of the early adventurers and explorers. For this reason his career appeals to the rising generation, which will keep his fame alive.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

FANS

In grandmother's day, lo these ages ago, a fan-like fan, played its part. Bedecked in fine feathers it made breezes blow when its sections were spread wide apart.

The youth of that time courted grandmother fair and he wooed as a gallant young man. The fan gave the romance that seemed to be there, for she'd blush 'neath the spread of her fan.

She'd ride in her carriage to church Sunday morn and her fan was spread on her arm. No wooer could call her appearance forlorn for the fan added much to her charm.

Yes, that was the way that it was long ago and it makes present romance seem poor. My grandmother's told me and she ought to know. She's lived through it all, I am sure.

And what of today—is the romance still here? It seems that there isn't as much. The romance in fans has just faded, I fear, since they're made out of cardboard and such.

HOW ARE YOU COUGHING?

A doctor who devotes as much of his time to writing or teaching as I do, if not more, spilled the beans—the doctor hails from the town that made beans famous—by telling the laity a few years ago that some twenty-five per cent of the diagnoses physicians make are mistakes. This afforded great comfort to the enemy. They've been quoting it ever since. In the bait they peddle around when they're trying to catch a few suckers. But with all due respect for the eminent Boston doctor I think his estimate of the rate of error in general diagnoses was wide of the mark. In one of his own writings he says, speaking of the diagnosis of conditions in which the patient's chief complaint is cough: "Nasal coughs and aural coughs (aural means ear) still linger on in the pages of textbooks, but I can find no convincing evidence that they exist." This Boston teacher published in 1915. Maybe he has had more experience since. I wish he could have heard our friend Billy, with the elephant cough from a plug of insipidated cerumen in the external auditory meatus, as they might say in Boston. He'd have to admit that nasal coughs do happen. Considering all the nose or nasal coughs that do not come under the immediate observation of the physician at all, at least not as the chief complaint which brings the patient at last to the doctor, and the very large proportion of every day coughs in children which are of nasal origin and which do come under medical observation, I dare say the rate of error in diagnosing such coughs is nearer fifty per cent. Many an infant with a nasal cough due to coryza is treated for bronchitis, and many an older child with a nasal cough from adenoids or from adenoiditis or from chronic rhinitis is piled with cough medicines and expectorants which can have no remedial effect in such conditions. When a doctor takes the pains or trouble to examine the patient properly, which means that the patient must be stripped to the waist, he is unlikely to make any serious error of diagnosis. It is the rough and ready kind of practice that returns most of the errors. And it is surprising what a large proportion of people demand the rough and ready kind of practice and will have no other. The worst case I have just quoted said on another occasion: "The doctor's life is always detected." Not in this world. I have told at least a thousand that have not been detected to date. If one may hazard an estimate, probably not over 2 per cent of a competent physician's lies are detected here on earth, and that's a lucky thing for the people he lies to and for.

It is rather harmful to suppress or check a cough in most cases. Instead we should endeavor to aid the cough. Most of the popular cough medicines contain ingredients which act as irritants to the mucous membrane of the throat and chest, but the quantities of the expectorants in the usual cough medicine formula are too small to be of any real service, and the inevitable opiate, narcotic or nerve sedative in the popular cough mixtures prevents any expectorant action anyhow.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Cows Getting Fine Feed

The man we get milk from is feeding green corn to his cows. Would the green corn have anything to do with the baby's digestion? The baby is four months old, as that is what she is getting. It seems to curdle in her stomach. (E. N. B.)

Answer.—The green corn is fine feed for the cows, from the viewpoint of the baby's welfare. Usually a baby can take the straight milk after the age of six to eight months, but for a baby four months old the milk should be modified, as a rule. Thus, eight ounces of whole milk, one ounce of sugar, one ounce of milk sugar or corn syrup, and ten ounces of barley water or oatmeal water or plain water boiled, makes a fairly good modified formula.

A Menasha woman possessed a fine Airedale dog with a family of half grown pups, according to the Town Patriarch. The woman decided to bob her hair, although she was warned that it would break the Airedale's heart. She had her locks shorn, however. And what did the Airedale do? Did he stick by his old friend? No, he disappeared. Oh yes, he came back, but it was only to coax off all the pups.

Noted Authors Took Up Writing Incidentally

Few men who have made names for themselves in literature began life as writers. Most of them drifted into writing books, after they had tried other occupations. Thomas Hardy began life as an architect. Hall Caine was private secretary to Dante Gabriel Rossetti long before he began to write novels. Joseph Conrad was a seaman when he wrote his first novel, Almayer's Folly. Conan Doyle was a physician when he invented Sherlock Holmes.

H. C. Wells was a haberdasher's assistant before he became a science teacher and a popular novelist. James M. Barrie was a reporter on a provincial newspaper long before The Little Minister preached his first sermon. And so one could go over the list of present day writers almost ad infinitum.

Famous writers of the past came to literature by devious ways. Charles Dickens started life as a "bottle boy" in a shoe-blackening factory and then became a clerk in a lawyer's office in Gray's Inn. Douglas Jerrold was bound apprentice to a printer after two years service as a midshipman. Mark Twain, in early life, was also a compositor and he began to "set type" at the age of 13. Artemus Ward also spent his early life at the case and began to live in awe of the father of the chapel at the age of 14.

Thackeray hoped to win fame with his brush rather than with his pen. So did William Black, whose novels contain some of the finest word pictures in our language. Samuel Lever, beloved of all Irishmen, was a painter of miniatures before he delighted the world with Handy Andy.

Rossetti once showed Whistler a sketch and asked his opinion of its merits. "It has its good points, Rossetti," said Whistler; "go ahead with it by all means."

Later Whistler inquired how it was getting along.

"All right," said Rossetti, cheerfully. "I've ordered a stunning frame for it."

In due time the canvas appeared at Rossetti's house in Cheyne Walk, Chelsea, beautifully framed.

"You've done nothing to it since I saw it, have you?" said Whistler.

"No-o," replied Rossetti. "But I've written a sonnet on the subject, if you'd like to hear it."

He recited some lines of particular tenderness.

"Rossetti," said Whistler, as the recitation ended, "take out the picture and frame the sonnet."

Pleasant Background Comes From Outdoor Decoration

Walls should be lighter than floors, and ceilings lighter than walls.

This is the general principal for preparing a background for decorating a home.

There are various modifications of this idea in use, but all depends on dark floor, lighter walls and lighter ceiling for effect.

Of the three, the walls are most important, for a person on entering a room greets wall space first. He is attracted or repelled by the appearance of the wall.

The wall, therefore, while not oppressive, should be attractive. A light, warm color or tone is best under any circumstances. Blues and greens are practically taboo. They are too cold and uninviting.

PLEASANT BACKGROUND

At the same time, the walls should be effective, pleasant background for the hangings on them—the paintings, tapestries or mirrors. They should blend with the backgrounds of the paintings, and yet should not vaunt themselves ahead of the decorative piece.

Roominess is a requirement for proper wall treatment. The roomier the feeling presented by the walls, the freer does the visitor or inhabitant feel. It is nearer to outdoors. Therefore, where the ceiling is actually low, and there is little real wall space in the room, beware of large, flowery designs on the wall. They make the wall and the entire room look much smaller than they are.

Vertical lines, not far apart, should be the design, with small, neat pattern, if any at all.

CEILING UNOBTRUSIVE

The ceiling should be even less obtrusive than the walls. It should be lighter, simpler and with practically no design in it. It should never be such as to draw the eye away from the least attractive point in the room.

The best proof for the soundness of this idea of dark floor, lighter wall and lighter ceiling is the outdoors. The countryside never grates on a person's nerves. Therefore the countryside should be copied in planing the home.

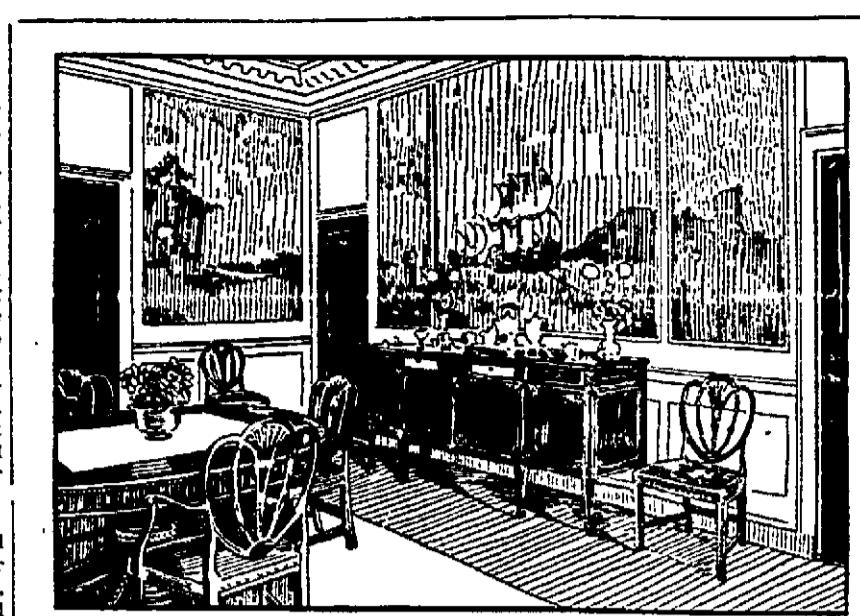

In the open, the floor or ground is dark. The walls, or distant scene with its trees and sloping ground, appear lighter, although of the same tone. And the same tone is carried out in the ceiling—the light blue of the sky.

The home is merely transition of the countryside indoors, with warmth of color replacing the cool tones of the outdoors.

Adventures Of The Twins

MRS. CAMEL CHANGES HER MIND

The next place the Twins went with Weeny, the elephant, on his vacation was to Mrs. Camel's house.

Mrs. Camel lived in a green spot in the desert under a date tree.

"Hello, Mrs. Camel," cried Weeny good naturedly trotting right up to where she was. "Company's come."

"So I see," said Mrs. Camel, eying Nancy and Nick and Weeny as though she wasn't tickled to death about it. Next she looked at the size of their satchel to see how long they were going to stay. It was a pretty good sized satchel she thought so they must be going to stay a long time.

"I'm cleaning house," she said kind of shortly.

"Oh, ho! You are, are you?" said Weeny. "That's fine! We can help like everything, can't we, Nancy and Nick? I'm a fine squitter and I can scrub your porches and water the garden and everything!"

"Besides I have no guest room," went on Mrs. Camel not paying any attention, and mind you, she didn't even say, "I'm very sorry, but—"

"The very thing!" cried Weeny. "We do love fresh air, don't we, children! We can sleep under the tree and count the dates and smell the stars, I mean, smell the dates and count the stars."

"Sure we can," said Nick. "I'd like that."

"The baby has the measles," went on Mrs. Camel as though that ended it.

"Then I can help you to nurse him," said Nancy eagerly.

"He's got the mumps, too!" said Mrs. Camel, "and it's very catching. And the chicken-pox and the whooping-cough and we think he's getting rosolia, too! That's three-day measles!"

"Oh, dear," said Nancy. "That's too bad! I don't see how you can nurse him and clean house, too."

"I can't," said Mrs. Camel. "And have company besides!"

After that nobody could think of another word to say, and it did seem as though the travelers would have to be going along to the next place. But Weeny finally thought of something. The desert sand had been hot on his feet and the nice green grass was cool and comforting to stand on. The longer he talked the better his feet felt.

"Would you mind giving us a drink, Mrs. Camel?" he asked.

"I've pretty thirsty!"

"But he couldn't have said a worse thing."

"Drink!" cried Mrs. Camel. "As though we had enough drink for ourselves. And I lived in a circus long enough to know how much water elephants take. Why, I wouldn't have enough water to cook and wash with for two weeks, sir, if you were to fill yourself up. Water's scarce hereabouts. This is the only water hole for 50 miles."

"Why, the books all say that camels can go without water for days and days," said Nancy.

"Books!" exclaimed Mrs. Camel in surprise. "Is my name in a book?"

"Yes, it is," said Nancy. "Didn't you know?"

"Never knew a word about it," said Mrs. Camel in a pleased voice. "Isn't that lovely, though?"

"And I think it says that camels like to have company," urged Weeny.

"Then do stay," smiled Mrs. Camel. "Stay as long as you ever can. The baby's been sick, but he's over at his grandma's, and as for the house-cleaning, it can wait."

And to show how much she meant it, she took the satchel into the house herself.

Whole Costume Weighs Only Eight Ounces

Pittsburg, Pa.—No wonder women know how to keep cool! They can dress, with becoming modesty, in eight ounces of clothing. They can buy the clothing for $26.40. Unsophisticated, unmarried men many doubt it, but it has been put to the test here and proved.

The estimate, of course, excludes hat and shoes, the heaviest items of Milady's summer wardrobe, but even with these added the total weight is just 21 ounces.

The fast-fading corset outweighs the entire ensemble. The costume of 1910 probably weighed four times as much.

Just to show Pittsburg women how to shop for an eight-ounce costume, a Pittsburg girl, accompanied by a safe, young married reporter with two children, was chosen to select the garments.

Here is a leaf from the reporter's notebook:

"Brassiere. This is a strong, web-like garment, weighing one-half ounce. The price is $1.50. A rosebud, which is nearly all the weight, is embroidered in the center."

"Teddy or step-in. This cr-er garment weighs one and one-half ounces. Price, $1.50, material silk."

(Young unmarried men are advised to turn to the sport pages.)

"Hose. Nothing secret about them. The price is $2.55, material chifon silk. They conceal nothing and weigh one-half ounce."

"Slip. This is the real light-resisting garment. It weighs as much as the dress—two and three-quarter ounces. The material is silk, the price $3.95."

"Dress. Truly a thing of beauty—grossamer-like. It may be put in a man's pocket. It is silk, price $16.50. Weight, two and three-quarters ounces."

The total comes to $26.40. Suitable shoes, weighing up to 10 ounces may be bought at from $5 to $15 a pair. Hats, weighing three ounces and up, may be had at $5 to $25.

And that's that. The best part of it all is that Miss 1924, thus arrayed, is every bit as modestly dressed as her old-fashioned sister—and a lot more becomingly.

The house party host always goes to the front hall and shakes hands with everyone who arrives. He asks the guests if they want to be shown to their rooms and, if not, sees that the gentlemen who come without valets give their keys to the butler or footman, and that the ladies without maids of their own give theirs to the maid on duty.

Distinctive Air

This frock of helge flat crepe achieves an air of distinction by its unique insert of open-work embroidery outlined with a row of ball buttons that attach by means of loops. The dress itself you will notice, is a perfectly straight tube affair with a Jenny neck and very short sleeves. Detachable, but a part of the costume is the wide and very lengthy scarf of self-material edged with the ball buttons. It is worn over a slip if the same color.

Dozen Priests At Jubilee Of Cecil Church

St. Martin church at Cecil celebrated its silver jubilee anniversary Wednesday. Services were held in the morning which were attended by nearly a dozen priests from neighboring parishes. A chicken dinner was served in a pavilion in a park near the church at noon. The celebration closed with a picnic in the afternoon. Among Appleton people in attendance were Mrs. E. J. Smejkal and daughter Verean and Roy Drexler.

KAUKAUNA PASTOR SPEAKS AT CHURCH CELEBRATION

A four day celebration to commemorate the golden jubilee of the founding of the Reformed church at Potlatch was held from Sunday to Wednesday of this week. The Rev. E. L. Worthmann of Kaukauna was one of the principal speakers of the gathering, giving an address at the Tuesday night service in honor of the Frauen Verein, the women's organization of the church. A reunion of all the pastors, formerly connected with the church was held Sunday, and services were held morning, afternoon and evening.

Making Jam Or Jelly Is Job For Care

Put soft fruit into an enamel kettle, slightly crush, then heat slowly; when hot drain in a bag, press out the juice, making one or two "extractions" according to the fruit. Always cover hard fruit, such as apples and plums, with water and include some skin, seeds and stones which give color and flavor. When the mass is soft, drain. After the fruit-juices are extracted they should be brought quickly to the boiling point, then let boil moderately for from ten to twenty minutes. The sugar is not added until the water is evaporated, as this results in a brighter and more choice jelly; for the same reason heated sugar will improve the quality. No jelly need be boiled longer than five minutes after the addition of sugar, as long cooking darkens the product. Skin while the juice is boiling and again after the sugar is added. Pour into sterilized glasses and, when cold, cover with paper or paraffin. Jelly should always be made in small quantities about six glasses at a time; and if it does not seem firm enough when poured into glasses, set them in the sun, cover with a piece of window-glass and let them remain there for two or three days.

A true preserve is not so crisp as jelly and not so thick as marmalade. It is made by cooking whole fruits in sirup until they are clear and transparent. This is done by first boiling sirup, then adding the fruit, then letting the fruit stand immersed in the sirup to "plump" it, and again slowly cooking.

Jams are thicker than preserves and should be made of second-grade fruit which may be bought very cheaply and at it once cooked makes satisfactory jam which will help cut down the butter bill and is desirable for children to eat more bread. All types of "fruit butters" are most economical and easy to make and a quantity should be put in any large family.

In making both jams and marmalade wash and prepare the fruit. For each quart use from one and one half cups of water if the fruits are dry to one-quarter cup if they are juicy. In every case use the least possible amount of water. Simmer until tender and all the juice is extracted, then rub through a sieve. To every quart of cooked pulp add from three-quarters to one quart of sugar (acid juicy fruits may require more), cook until the mass is thick, stirring over a slow fire continuously in order to prevent sticking, using an asbestos pad under the kettle; then pour into small sterilized jars or glasses.—From The Designer Magazine for August.

KAUKAUNA NEWS

Melvin Trams Telephone 329-J
Kaukauna RepresentativeLOOK FOR ANOTHER RECORD ENROLLMENT
AT TRAINING SCHOOLOnly One Change in Faculty As School Year Begins Next Week

Kaukauna—Registration day at Outagamie rural normal school is Monday, Sept. 1. Class sessions will begin the day following. W. P. Hagman, principal, who has just returned from a visit with relatives in the southern part of the state, said the advance registration this year is the largest in the history of the institution and there is every indication the enrollment will be larger than previous years.

The faculty for the coming year will be W. P. Hagman, principal; Jennie I. Peacock, Margaret Phillips, and Luella Bronson. Miss Phillips, a former teacher, is the only new member and succeeds Mildred Carter as instructor in methods. Miss Peacock will have charge of the practice department and Miss Bronson will teach methods and music.

The model school which is made up of pupils from the first to the sixth grades and which has been a feature of the normal school for several years, will be continued again the coming year. It will be in charge of Miss Peacock, and it is in this school that students get practical experience in disciplining and teaching.

MANUFACTURER NOW
MUST CARRY STOCK

Kaukauna—Judson G. Rosebush of Appleton gave a talk at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club at Hotel Kaukauna Wednesday noon on tendencies in business. He said the manufacturer has to assume new responsibilities, or new responsibilities are being put upon him by the middle man and jobber who no longer carries a stock, but orders his goods as they are sold. This makes it necessary for the manufacturer to carry the stock, he said. The speaker was asked if this new method would in time do away with the middle man and answered it by saying yes and no. He said the tendency will probably be for the manufacturer to sell to large business houses direct, but that the middle man would continue to take an important part in all other transactions.

18,000 PEOPLE AT DE PERE FAIR ON 'GREEN BAY DAY'

Crowd Gets Thrill When Race Horse Stumbles As It Runs Under Wire

BY W. F. WINSEY

De Pere—Approximately 18,000 people attended the De Pere, Wis., fair on Wednesday, Green Bay day. It seemed as if all roads ended in the fair grounds and that every automobile in Brown and Outagamie counties found a parking place on the grounds. With the exception of the speed events, the display of prize-winning animals before the grandstand on the race track and the fireworks, the Tuesday's program was repeated on Wednesday and improved by practice. In the great crowd that packed the grounds were large numbers from Kaukauna, Appleton and other parts of Outagamie-co.

In the fifth heat of the 230 pace, Hunter Hall, passing under the wire and hitting a merry clip, stumbled, fell forward, turned head-over heels, and, using the sulky as a catapult, hurled his driver, J. S. Buckingham, free from all entanglements, 35 feet where he landed, face downward. Both driver and horse were uninjured except for a bad shaking up. Every sound on the grounds was hushed and the vast crowd was breathless.

The speed events of the day consisted of a colt race, a 230 pace a 224 trot and a 219 pace. In each of these races except the colt race, the entry record was broken. The reason for this was that the day was clear, the temperature just right and the track fast. Mark Bellis was starter.

In the colt race, Walter Harvester in two straight heats won first money. Blingen Leyburn, second money, Greenwood Boy, third money and Belwin Boy, fourth money. The purse was $200 and added money and the time 2:29 1/2 and 2:29 3/4.

The results: Blingen Leyburn, Tom Coan..... 2 2 Walter Harvester, W. Hahman..... 1 1 Belwin Boy, Jules Busche..... 2 3 Greenwood Boy, Green Bay..... 2 3

In the 230 pace, it required six heats for Colonel Azzoff to win first money. Percy Abbe, second money, Hunter Hall, third money, and Waukegan Boy, fourth money. The purse was $300 and added money. The best time was 2:18 1/2.

The results: Colonel Azzoff, Sterneman 2 1 2 1 2 1 Soranto Boy, Busche..... 3 6 8 Percy Abbe, Belwin..... 3 2 1 2 1 2 Hunter Hall, Huntington 1 5 3 3 3 Bellview, Garot Bros..... 6 7 6 Waukegan Boy, Radtke..... 4 4 4 Malmesheet Hall, Poole..... 5 3 7 4

In the 224 trot, Tom Carter won first money in four heats, Jim Bergale received second, Mary Jay, third, and Starlight Spears fourth.

Race results: Hardly Saddler, Tiltman..... 7 7 5 Tom Custer, Miller..... 6 1 1 1 Lucille S., Lansing..... 5 6 d Jim Bergale, Bergale..... 1 3 2 4 Mary Jay, Le Claire..... 2 2 3 3 Progressive Laddie, McMahon 3 4 6 Starlight Spears..... 4 5 4 2 Agnes D. won the 219 pace in three straight heats, stepping a mile in 2:18 1/2. Second place went to Glory, third to Franklin Volo, and fourth to King Direct.

Race results: Glory, Mahne..... 3 3 2 King Direct, Michaels..... 2 7 5 Franklin Volo, Ziegler..... 5 2 3 Dick Danvers, Lansing..... 4 6 7 Effie S., Tiltman..... 6 5 6 Grafton Hall, Garot Bros..... 7 4 4 Agnes D., Lebridge..... 1 1 1

Found Relief in Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Always Recommends It.

Bridgeport, Connecticut.—"I was completely run-down, had headaches, dizzy, faint feelings and other troubles women often have. As I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before, my husband said to take it again. I have now taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel very good now and shall continue taking them for a while. I have been telling my cousin about the medicine and she wants to take it, too. I always recommend it."—Mrs. HENRY C. SMITH, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 6, Bridgeport, Conn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Smith's experience is but one of many. In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 121,000 replies were received, and 98 per cent reported they were benefited by its use. Forsale by druggists everywhere.

3,500 WISCONSIN LEGIONNAIRES TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Band of 1,000 Badger Musicians Will March in Huge Parade

At least 3,500 Wisconsin legionnaires are expected to attend the national legion convention in St. Paul, Minn., from Sept. 15 to 19, according to the report of the commander of the legion who checked out the reservations now on file at state legion headquarters in Milwaukee. About 2,500 reservations had been filed with the state office at the end of last week.

Former Wisconsin people living in the Twin Cities are preparing for a rousing welcome for the Badger war veterans. Wednesday, Sept. 17, will be Wisconsin day and an enormous rally will be held that evening at the Minneapolis armory. Legionnaires and former Wisconsin people will gather for a "pop" meeting at which there will be rousing speeches, and this is to be followed by a dance.

1000 PIECE BAND

About 1,000 musicians have already registered for the convention and all of them will play in the Wisconsin section of the parade and at the dance. Wisconsin will be given fourth place in the parade because it ranked fourth among the states of the union in percentage of membership in the legion last year. Mr. Keller was director of membership and guided the state department's membership campaign.

The Wisconsin department is the seventh largest in the United States and Wisconsin is known as the "legion state" because of its large enrollment. Departments which exceeded Wisconsin last year in percentage of membership increase were Mexico, an island in the Pacific, and Florida.

THREE CANDIDATES

Wisconsin probably will present three candidates for election as national commander. They are George Barrett, Sheboygan; F. Ryan Duffy, Fond du Lac; and Vilas Whaley, Racine, all past commanders of the Wisconsin department. Duffy now is national vice commander for Wisconsin.

It has been suggested that a caucus of the 31 Wisconsin delegates be held prior to the convention to unite on one of the candidates. It is believed that the Wisconsin nominee has a favorable chance for election because of the showing that Wisconsin has made in legion circles.

WOMEN WANT BIG WEYAUWEGA VOTE AT POLLS TUESDAY

Club Makes Arrangements for House to House Canvass with Literature

Special to Post-Crescent

Weyauwega—At a meeting in the village hall Tuesday evening, a few members of the Weyauwega Women's club planned to put on a campaign to get people out to vote at the primary election next Tuesday, Sept. 2. The plan was to ask the boy scouts and campfire girls to make a house to house canvass distributing leaflets in the hands of the voters to remind them of the time and place of the election.

Mrs. Hannah Patchin, 84 years of age, gave a talk at the meeting on the subject of the responsibility of the woman voter. Mrs. Patchin in her earlier days was an enthusiastic suffragist and did all in her power to bring about the right of women to vote. Up to the last few years she has attended suffrage conventions in the east. In her talk she gave a history of the movement from the start to the present time and urged every woman to get out on election day.

Dr. George Mack of St. Louis, Mo., who is associated with the National Board of Missions will preach at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Mr. Mack was born and brought up in Weyauwega and vicinity.

Fleet Which Was Sunk in Scapa Flow Will Be Lifted and Salvaged

London—To spend $200,000 on the off chance of getting great piles of scrap iron and scrap steel from the bottom of the sea looks like risking a lot of money. But Cox and Danks, marine engineers of London, are taking the gamble on what promises to be the greatest sea-diving and ship-salvaging feat in the world's history.

British ingenuity will seek to overcome the results of German determination. Peacetime business will seek to make use of war-time preparation. For the job the London firm has set for itself is nothing less than raising from the murky waters of Scapa Flow the once proud and mighty German battle fleet. When fished up, all it will be good for will be to tow it to shore, break it up and sell it as a scrap. And if the market is good, there is lots of money in scrap.

Five years ago, in compliance with the terms of the armistice, the German battle fleet steamed into the great harbor in the Orkney Islands to the north of Scotland. British and American battle fleets were on hand to receive them. The allied vessels had guns ready in case the Germans tried a last-minute act of desperation, but everything passed off peacefully.

Then on June 21, 1919, the world was startled by the news that the Germans the night before had scuttled almost their entire fleet. Seven or eight battleships, five battle cruisers, eight light cruisers and 50 destroyers were sunk. They have been lying there rusting ever since. Cox and Danks have a preliminary contract to raise 24 torpedo boat destroyers and two of the biggest battle cruisers, the Hindenburg and the Seydlitz, each of 27,000 tons. For this purpose they bought from the British government the great German floating dock which was used for submarine repairs by the Teutons.

JOB FOR DEEP-SEA DIVERS
This dock was cut in two, thus forming two pontoons, each over 200 feet in length and each fitted with workshops, electric power generating plants, an air compressor and gear used in ship-salvaging work. Powerful cranes have also been installed. When all is ready the twin pontoons will be placed on either side of the vessel to be raised.

The first job is that of the deep-sea divers. They will go down into the hull of the vessels to be raised and systematically stop up every hole in her from hatchways to the sea cocks which the Germans opened in order to sink the ship. Metal patches, concrete and wooden blocks will be used in this work of patching holes.

Cuts will then be made in the various decks of the vessel and powerful electric pumps will be lowered. These are capable of ejecting 5,000 tons of water an hour. The object is, of course, to empty the vessel of water so that she will start rising by her own buoyancy. Once this starts, the wreck will be taken at each tide to shallower water until it is found possible to keep her on an even keel and float her normally.

This is the operation that will be performed on the Hindenburg which settled upright, her funnels and topmasts even now extending well above the level of the sea.

The Seydlitz, which is lying on her side, presents a different problem. She will not be pumped out until by combined action of tides and pontoons she is dragged to shallower water.

SEAWEEED HINDERS WORK
The first effort at raising a vessel proved a failure. The destroyer V-70 had been partially raised and her masts and funnels removed. Heaving operations were then begun and the vessel lifted bodily seven feet when a chain snapped. Others followed. Only two wire straps held tight. The destroyer was allowed to sink back. In future, chains will be abandoned and wire straps used.

In working on the various ships the 12 divers now employed have encountered a monstrous sea-weed hitherto unknown in these waters. Its stalks are as thick as a man's wrists, have leaves 18 inches wide and trail 15 feet in length. To get at the portholes it was necessary for the

Mrs. Gunther says her husband killed himself because he could not finance a home.

HARDING MEMORIAL STAMPS ARE SOUGHT

By Associated Press
Washington—The Harding memorial postage stamp seems to be much in demand by stamp collectors throughout the country. The post office department has been compelled to enjoin postmasters from selling or otherwise furnishing precanceled stamps of that and other issues to persons or concerns not authorized to use precanceled stamps, the conditions governing the use of which specifically provide they can be furnished by postmasters only after special authority in each instance has been obtained from the department.

Precanceled stamps are those furnished the larger users of second, third and fourth class mails bearing across their face the printed name of the post office where they must be used. Each stamp is accounted for by the users and the mail they carry does not have to be canceled by machine or by hand at the sending post office.

divers to slash their way through this veritable submarine jungle. If the firm is successful with its first job, it may tackle the rest of the German fleet. It is estimated that it will take at least eight years to clear the harbor of all sunken ships.

TWO BOYS KILLED RACING TO DANCE

Port Washington—Two boys bound to a dance in Fredonia were instantly killed Wednesday night and two of their companions were injured when the small truck in which they were traveling at 45 miles an hour, according to admissions of the survivors left the road and crashed into a tree.

Albion Koenig, 17, and Herman Casper, 19, who had been sitting in the body of the truck were thrown 20 feet suffering broken necks and fractured skulls.

The injured are William Brott and William Jahnke, both 18, who escaped with cuts and bruises. They were sitting on the seat beside Edwin Michels, 15, the driver who was unhurt.

All the members of the party lived in Newburg. The accident occurred at a bend in the road on highway 84 in Ozaukee county near the Washington county line between Fredonia and Waubesa.

Coroner Horn of this city said Wednesday night that he probably would hold an inquest Wednesday in Fredonia.

REDS GAINING IN KOREA, JAPS SAY

Seoul—Unrest is increasing in Korea and rebellious elements, including bolshevism and communism, are growing in strength, according to a statement issued recently by the Korean government-general here.

The statement says the Japanese authorities in Korea have good reason to fear insurgency and bolshevism will develop into a serious danger within the next few years, and have decided to reinforce the gendarmerie in the peninsula and the guards along the northern frontier.

The outstanding development in this connection, the statement declares, has been a move to unify numerous local bodies, ostensibly labor or religious associations, for the secret propagation of seditious or bolshevist ideas. The Japanese authorities have listed 171 such organizations, and ordered the dissolution of the majority of these.

CAR PASSES ARTERIAL; TWO WOMEN IN HOSPITAL

By Associated Press
Madison—Mrs. Nellie Bennett and Mrs. Ann Koenig, both of Chicago, were seriously injured in an automobile collision here early Thursday. They are in a local hospital. The automobile in which the women were riding was driven by Laura Bennett of Prairie Du Sac, Wis. Failure to stop for an arterial highway is said to have caused the accident.

How Badger Roads Serve Population

The above map tells an interesting story. The black sections in the map shows areas in Wisconsin where there is territory more than three miles away from a patrol maintained, state or county trunk highway. This map means that 85 out of every 100 persons in Wisconsin live within three miles of maintained roads. The figure is more probably 87 per cent. Eighty per cent of the population live on patrolled trunk highways. Only 8.75 per cent of the total area of the state is more than three miles from a maintained road. These areas are in upper Wisconsin, mostly sandy, marshy, cut-over or uncut timber land with very few settlers. No other state in the union can match this showing.

BRITISHERS FIND ROMAN KITCHEN

By Associated Press
London—A camp house where probably in olden times the unwelcome Roman legions once feasted, has been found among a group of newly discovered Roman remains at Folkstone on the English Channel, where the first Romans are said to have landed. The remains consist of two buildings, in each of which are about seven hearths, which leads to the belief that they were used as the cook houses and dining halls of early Roman camps.

The base of a watch tower also has been found, but in a wall which evidently surrounded the camp. Several burial urns and Roman glass have been dug up, all in perfect condition. The excavations are being made under the supervision of experts from the British Museum, to which institution the relics will be given.

CHURCH NOT READY FOR USE ON SUNDAY

Reopening of Congregational Edifice Is Postponed for One More Week

Services will not be resumed at the First Congregational church Sunday morning as planned because redecoration of the auditorium will not be completed by that time. The work is progressing satisfactorily, however, and the building is expected to be ready for worship on Sunday, Sept. 7.

Dr. H. E. Peabody, pastor and family, who have been spending the vacation at their summer cottage at Ludington, Mich., are expected here Friday or Saturday.

Sunday school will convene at 10 o'clock Sunday morning but will change back to the hour of 9:30 the following week when the services resume. Rally day is to be held on Sunday, Sept. 14, at the regular class hour. Plans for its observance and for selection of teachers and organization of more classes will be made at a workers' conference at 7:30 Tuesday evening at the church.

E. A. Walther was at Manitowoc Thursday on business.

SHERIFF BELIEVES ROBBERS WERE BOYS

That boys or young men were responsible for the burglaries committed early Wednesday morning at three Dale business places, is the belief of Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke as the result of several investigations made since the raid.

The only clew outside of the footprints left by the boys is a pencil which dropped out of one of the burglar's pockets as he was crawling through a window of the Harlow Rouse drug store. By the way the pencil was sharpened, the sheriff judges it belonged to a boy.

Movements of a mysterious auto mobile about the village near the time of the burglaries also gave the sheriff something to work on. He has a good description of the car and is tracing it.

GERMS FLOURISH ON PAPER MARKS

Berlin—Disease germs are much prevalent among post-war bank notes in Germany than they were in the paper money in use before the war, investigators have found, because of the fact that the currency is handled much more frequently than prior to 1914. This because there is less of it. Investigators in Berlin found that coined money is virtually innocuous, owing to the self-disinfecting action of the metal itself, and because its small, smooth surface prevents development of the germs. The dirtiest piece of copper or silver is, from the standpoint of a bacteriologist, better than newly-issued paper money," says the report.

COURT MUST TEST IF WAR EXEMPTION BARS CITIZENSHIP

Cases of Three Men Are Drawing Attention in San Francisco Courts

San Francisco — Shall an alien's claim for exemption from military service, back in war days, forever bar him from American citizenship? The San Francisco federal district court of appeals is trying to decide the question now. But the final answer, no doubt, will have to come from the United States Supreme Court.

For three naturalization cases, on appeal here are furnishing the tests which will determine the policy to be followed in the future by 2500 different citizenship courts throughout the country.

Most far reaching of the three is the case of Lasse Siem, a Norwegian subject, admitted to citizenship by Federal Judge Bourquin of Butte Mont.

In this instance, the court held that a "neutral alien" performed his highest duty both to his native country and to the United States by remaining neutral.

"A declarant not given citizenship protection by this country, nor yet an subject of his native country," said Judge Bourquin, "is answerable to the latter for his conduct."

"He consistently can remain neutral when his country remains neutral."

Government counsel took an appeal. And the American Legion, actively interested in all three cases, assailed Judge Bourquin's ruling.

The other actions came up before Superior Judge Morgan here.

Judge Morgan specially declares he does not agree with the Bourquin decision. He holds, however, the exemption claim in a questionable subject to explanation by oral testimony.

The first of the cases he considered was that of a German, Paul G. Lucas.

"I did not agree with the government that Lucas could not show his qualifications for becoming a citizen," comments the San Francisco jurist.

"The selective service act provided enemy aliens must be exempted and placed in class 5-E. And Lucas' questionnaire proves this was done."

"But I do not believe it was intended that a man, thus obeying the law, later should be penalized for so doing."

"I allowed evidence of Lucas' good faith, of his attempt to enlist in the medical corps, of his purchase of $500 worth of Liberty bonds and similar evidence which convinced me of his right to citizenship."

The case of Giacomo Buschiazio, an Italian, involved a similar question of whether oral testimony could be introduced after the questionnaire had shown exemption had been claimed.

"The evidence convinced me Buschiazio had not understood what he was doing when he claimed exemption, and that he did make a good citizen. So I decided he should be permitted to become one."

"We are trying what is in a man's heart," says Alvin Gerlack, chairman of the legion committee watching the conduct of the cases.

And "M. R. Bevington, naturalization examiner, who is conducting them for the government, contends an 'alien should not be allowed to impeach his questionnaire now that the war is over.'"

SO THIS IS BUNKER HILL!

Ma, Pa and all the little Burton Wheelers gather at the historic Bunker Hill monument, Boston, and pay their respects to General Prescott's memory. It was Prescott who whites of their eyes. Wheeler's slogan in his race with La Follette is to the effect that a broadside may be fired at any distance.

200 SCHOOL BOARD OFFICERS MEET HERE

Between 100 and 200 school board officers, most of whom were school clerks, are gathered in Lawrence Memorial chapel for their annual county conference. Various features of school buildings, equipment and curriculum were to be discussed. Among the speakers are George S. Dick, state inspector of rural schools, and A. G. Meador, county school superintendent.

The first of the cases he considered was that of a German, Paul G. Lucas.

"I did not agree with the government that Lucas could not show his qualifications for becoming a citizen," comments the San Francisco jurist.

"The selective service act provided enemy aliens must be exempted and placed in class 5-E. And Lucas' questionnaire proves this was done."

"But I do not believe it was intended that a man, thus obeying the law, later should be penalized for so doing."

"I allowed evidence of Lucas' good faith, of his attempt to enlist in the medical corps, of his purchase of $500 worth of Liberty bonds and similar evidence which convinced me of his right to citizenship."

The case of Giacomo Buschiazio, an Italian, involved a similar question of whether oral testimony could be introduced after the questionnaire had shown exemption had been claimed.

"The evidence convinced me Buschiazio had not understood what he was doing when he claimed exemption, and that he did make a good citizen. So I decided he should be permitted to become one."

And "M. R. Bevington, naturalization examiner, who is conducting them for the government, contends an 'alien should not be allowed to impeach his questionnaire now that the war is over.'"

INDIAN RAJAH BAGS HUGE WHITE TIGER

By Associated Press
Calcutta—Sportsmen all over India are greatly interested in the skin of a white tiger recently shot by the Maharaja of Sirgurga and which is now on display here.

Except for a few darker stripes the pelt is almost pure white and measures nine feet eight inches from nose to tail tip. The white tiger is extremely rare, but few specimens ever having been secured, and this one is reported to have had a career of depredation that included three human victims and innumerable cattle.

According to reports from the district in which it was killed, the beast actually appeared to use its unusual coloration as an aid to hunting. It was continually mistaken for a steer or cow as it lay quietly among the herds waiting a chance to kill, and the natives assert that it mixed freely with the herds without exciting alarm.

Three instances are related of the tiger having been seen lying quietly in the jungle and being mistaken by natives for a beast it had slain, and in each of these cases when the native approached, he was killed.

EXPECT WOMAN SPEEDER TO BE IN COURT TODAY

Appearance in municipal court of Miss Adria Martin of Green Bay was expected Thursday to answer the charge of exceeding the speed limits. Miss Martin was arrested Tuesday on Highway 15 by Allen Kaufman, county motorcycle officer, when her automobile was hitting a speed considerably faster than the county ordinance allows, according to the officer.

County Officer Wilbur Bogan Wednesday arrested R. P. Danson for violating the speed laws in Grand Chute. Danson separated himself from $13.20 upon the direction of Judge A. M. Spencer.

DISMISS MEN HELD AS DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Holding that the evidence presented by the state did not warrant a conviction, Frank and Thomas Verbrick, Appleton, and Rudolph Jacobson, Kaukauna, were dismissed at Chilton Thursday morning by Judge J. P. Hume before whom they were tried on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The young men were arrested following an accident near Sherwood on June 15 in which three people were injured.

The young men were represented by Rooney and Grogan of Appleton and George C. Hume of Chilton.

BAND INSTRUMENTS, BOUGHT BY LIONS; READY FOR SCHOOL

Luncheon Club Furnishes 25 Horns and Clarinets to
H. S. Pupils

All the roaring that a flock of lions can do won't be a circumstance to the noise which Appleton high school pupils will make during the fall and winter when they organize a high school band using band instruments donated by Appleton Lions club, which are on display in the window of the Meyer-Seeger Music Co. store.

Nearly a year ago Appleton Lions club proposed to the board of education that it would purchase band instruments valued at $1,000 and present them to the board if arrangements were made to provide a band instructor at the school. The board accepted the proposition and during the summer Mr. Behnken, formerly connected with Lawrence Conservatory of Music, was engaged to take care of the work. The instruments were ordered and will be given to the board with the opening of school. It is planned to make the hours available to young people who have a talent for music but who are unable to provide their own instruments. In all probability a band will be organized immediately after the opening of school.

More than two dozen Wisconsin high schools now have bands, many of them excellent organizations. Appleton high school, it is said, has an abundance of musical talent and no difficulty is expected in organizing a high class brass band.

The twenty-five instruments purchased by the Lions include four trombones, one euphonium, two E flat basses, one piccolo, 1 E flat clarinet, six B flat clarinets, four cornets, two trumpets and four mellophones or French horns.

It is believed that a sufficient number of high school students own saxophones and drums to provide those sections of the proposed band. Students who have band instruments of their own also will be enrolled in the organization and it is possible a band of fifty or more pieces can be organized.

$5,400 GROWTH IN POSTAL RECEIPTS

Business at Postoffice Growing Steadily, Reports Show

Although there was a lull in postal activities of the Appleton postoffice during the spring months the receipts in general for the first half were not only sufficiently large to offset the slack season but also established a satisfactory increase over the same period in the year previous.

Postal receipts for the first six months in 1924 amounted to $36,938.51 as compared with $31,482.72 in the same period in 1923, an increase of $5,455.79 for the half year. Receipts for July also showed an increase over July of the previous year. They were $9,925.83, as against $8,897.24 in July, 1923. Included in this item are proceeds from sale of stamps, newspaper postage, box rentals, excess postage, sale of waste paper, etc., but not money order fees. Domestic money order fees amounted to $3,013.13 in the fiscal year ending June 30. There were 45,051 money orders issued, or 4,814 more than the previous year. Of this number, the main office issued 39,904, substation No. 1 issued 4,004, station No. 2 issued 340, and station No. 3, which was opened on May 1 issued 713 during the two months.

structure will be erected with the idea of adding a second story in the future if conditions warrant.

The building will be of tile and brick construction.

BRITISH DOCTORS WAGE BITTER WAR ON WHITE BREAD

"Whiter Your Bread, Sooner Your Dead," New Medical Slogan

BY MILTON BRONNER
London—"The whiter your bread
the sooner you're dead."
It isn't exactly a very enlivening or gay thought, but it is the rather conscience way in which the newspapers spurred on by the doctors, have been putting things to the London public.
Frightened by the increase in cancer, hardening of the arteries, rheumatism and other serious complaints, British physicians have been urging the public to change its dietary habits.
They say the good old Briton has been eating too much meat and suet pudding and white bread. He is now urged to get busy with fresh fruit, fresh vegetables and whole wheat bread.
And the campaign has been so successful that the bakers report an increased demand for other kinds of bread.
Here's the best story that has floated around about France's grand old man, Clemenceau, for some time.
It dates back before the war to the days when Germany was powerful and France shivered.
The Germans trod on French toes with regard to some African problem and the foreign minister who did it was Kiderlin-Waechter. Shortly afterwards this Prussian found himself at the same watering place as Clemenceau.
He was dying to meet the old man, but every time he looked at the Frenchman, the latter looked off into space and whistled. Finally one day they came face to face on a narrow bridge.
The German clicked his heels together, bowed and said "Kiderlin Waechter!" It was his way of introducing himself. Clemenceau was expected to bow, name himself and then begin conversing. Instead the old man glanced at the other and said:
"Kiderlin-Waechter?" Not my name, thank Heaven."
And passed on.
Words that we Americans use in ordinary life suffer a strange sea change when we hear them used in England. For instance, a Briton pointed out to an American tourist friend a young woman that he knew.
"She's a very homely woman," said the Englishman.
"But I would say she is very pretty," protested the Yank.
He didn't know that the English mean a woman who is a good housekeeper, wife and mother, when they say "homely."
Similarly they use "nervy" in a

HIT SNAG IN PLAN TO DIVIDE COUNTY

Waupaca—Supporters of the proposal to divide Waupaca county by legislative act apparently have struck a snag in the argument advanced by George A. Miller, New London, candidate for the assembly, who points out that the legislature has no authority in the present instance.
The law says that no county with an area of 900 square miles or less shall be divided or have any part stricken therefrom without submitting the question to the vote of the people of the county, nor unless a different manner than we. In America it means a person who has a deal of cheek. In England it means a person who is nervous.
And speaking of words, a French newspaper reporter has added a permanent word to his language. Some 25 years ago a peculiarly atrocious murder was committed in the Montmartre district of Paris.
This particular reporter had been reading American books telling of the atrocities committed by our Apache Indians the last time they broke loose. So he said the Paris criminal was a regular Apache.
The epithet caught on like wildfire. The tougher Montmartre habitues called themselves Apaches and and there were Apache songs and Apache styles. And now the French Academy has solemnly decreed that the word shall go into the French dictionary as one that has been properly naturalized.

majority of all the legal voters of the county voting on the question shall vote for the division. Waupaca county has but 756 square miles.
Interests in the eastern and western sections of the county are widely separated. It is declared, and some persons at New London, would form a separate county, while others would annex their city an immediate territory to Outagamie county.

GROUND TOO SOFT TO USE BINDER FOR CUTTING GRAIN

Farmers on the east shore of Lake Winnebago are experiencing a great deal of trouble in harvesting their grain. Joseph Schomisch, who visited his brother, Andrew Schomisch, at Stockbridge Sunday, relates an experience the latter had last week while endeavoring to cut a field of grain. After a great deal of difficulty he got his self binder into the field where it sank into the rain soaked soil so deep his team of horses was unable to move it and he had to jack it up in order to get it on firm soil.

After spending half a day in getting the reaper out of the field he cut the grain by hand with a scythe.

War Relics Stored Away In Washington Vaults

BY LARRY BOARDMAN
Washington—Tucked away in the War Department's lockers are five thousand stories—stories wrapped up in packages containing the unclaimed belongings of men who died in the service.

The stories are of adventure, love, romance, affection. Many of them never will be told. They are buried with the men who once carried the contents of the packages away to war—and never returned.

Other stories are known. They have been brought to light by John W. Robbins, keeper of the story package collection.

Open the packages—
One contains only a great family Bible, bound with brass; its owner had no other earthly possessions. Another contains a quantity of nick-nacks, keys, small coins, studs, buttons—and the picture of a white-haired woman with sad, tired eyes. In another there is a locket; in the locket the picture of a blue-eyed baby girl.

There are rings—hundreds of them—and watches.

These are just a few samples.

As to the stories—

A mother lost her son in the World war. All efforts to locate his body failed.

The mother had but one clew. The boy, she told Robbins, had worn a ring—a family ring of strange design. She described it in detail.

Four years passed. Then Robbins received a consignment of rings, taken from the fingers of men killed at the front.

With the mother's written description in hand, he made a careful check—the ring worn by the boy who had "gone west" was one of the number. The boy's body was traced to a nameless grave in France, brought back, reburied.

One day a sorority pin was brought to Robbins' office—a pin found on the unidentified body of a young lieutenant, killed overseas.

With only the name of the sorority to work on, Robbins started his search. Months later, by making inquiries of colleges throughout the country, he found the girl—waiting in vain for her dead soldier-lover. They had planned to be married when the war was over.

"Some of the articles are very valuable," says Robbins, "costly diamonds, Liberty bonds, sums of money. Others are trinkets, of no intrinsic value whatsoever."

"But in every case we do our best to find the nearest of kin. Some of the apparently worthless trinkets are priceless to the mothers, fathers, wives and children of those who gave their lives for their country."

"We traced one woman through four states and finally to Paris, to give her a military medal awarded to her son, killed in aviation while serving with the Lafayette escadrille. She told us that to her it was worth a million dollars!"

"A father said the same thing of an old, battered watch, carried by his son in the trenches."

"When sending out articles we always use registered mail—to protect both ourselves and the receivers. And before approving any claims we always make a careful check of the 'Some of the packages date back 50 years or more. Not long ago we claimant's identity."

received a request for a family ring, worn by a soldier in the Civil war. And we were able to send it, for we still had the veteran's effects safely filed away."

VALLEY WILL SEE LABOR DAY PARADE

Large Number of Floats Will Be in Combined Locks Motor Procession

Appleton, Kaukauna and the villages between will be able to view the street parade which will precede the picnic of Combined Locks Paper Co. employees at Combined Locks village park Labor day.

The procession is to start from Combined Locks at 10 o'clock in the morning and will reach Appleton at about 11 o'clock. It will proceed to South Kaukauna, across the river to North Kaukauna and through Little Chute to Appleton. The route within the city will be west on Second-ave to Richmond-st, south on Richmond to College-ave and east on the avenue to Law-st. It then will pass out of the city over John-st bridge through Kimberly and back to Combined Locks.

Every department of the Combined Locks and Little Chute papermills of the company will have a float in the parade and each employee who owns a machine will decorate and drive it in the procession. Combined Locks village board, the fire department, baseball team and other organizations also will have floats. The De Pere band will be on a truck at the head of the motorcade.

Men among the mill workers who own motorcycles will act as special police to lead the parade and protect the machines at crossings against accidents. The squad is going over the parade route each evening until Monday so the danger points will be familiar to them. Kaukauna and Appleton police also will assist during the time the parade is passing through the two cities.

The annual picnic of the mill workers will follow, with basket dinner and supper, band concert, dancing, games and concluding with a big display of fireworks.

BEATS UP MAN WHO WAS TRYING TO SPANK SON

An attempt to save his own son from a beating at the hands of an other man was Ernest Theede's excuse for committing an assault upon Jerry Jones in the town of Maine last Saturday. Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke arrested Theede on Jones' complaint. Theede said that he interfered in an altercation between his son and Jones. Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Monday sentenced Theede to 10 days in jail but immediately suspended sentence, pending the defendant's good behavior.

WILLYS MILL GOES ON BLOCK TO PAY $50,000 JUDGMENT

West End Landmark Will Be Sold by Sheriff on Court Order

Probably the most valuable property that has ever gone to sheriff's auction block in this county is the Appleton Cereal Mills, formerly the Willy company, which will be sold by Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke on Oct. 23. The sheriff's sale is to satisfy a mortgage "foreclosure" judgment on $50,000 together with accrued interest and court costs, which F. S. Bradford, Mrs. Katherine K. Willy and Mrs. Louise S. Galpin obtained in circuit court on Aug. 16, 1923. The judgment is against A. L. Nichols, Mrs. Nichols and the Appleton Cereal Mills in favor of Mr. Bradford for $10,000, Mrs. Willy for $20,000 and Mrs. Galpin for $20,000, with interest and costs. Much depends upon what may be realized in the sale. The plaintiffs also sought a deficiency judgment against Mr. Nichols, but Judge Edgar V. Werner ruled in favor of the defendant. The case has, however, been appealed to the Supreme court. The mill had been capitalized at $125,000, but the articles of incorporation were later amended to increase the capital stock to $175,000.

LOITERER TRIED TO STICK KNIFE IN COP

A man answering to the name of Gust Schreiber resisted arrest by drawing a knife on Marshal Alfred Dunn of Hortonville, son of the late Marshal Thomas Dunn, who was run down and killed by an automobile recently. Schreiber was seen loitering about the railroad station at Hortonville Tuesday, and when he saw the marshal approach, he moved off. He refused to stop at the marshal's command and when he was about to be apprehended, he drew the knife. The man was overpowered, however, and taken to the county jail. He was sentenced by Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Wednesday to spend the next ten days in jail.

Alkali Laundry Soap Takes Sting From Skeeter Bites

Swatt. Scratching mosquito bites, the great unpopular sport of the last few weeks, can't be made a much less arduous job by washing with good old-fashioned yellow laundry soap that our grandmothers raved about, according to Dr. W. C. Felton, city health officer. Dr. Felton explained there are lots better ways to take the sting out of bites than by irritating them with finger-nails. The old-fashioned soap contains alkali which is the factor in relieving the irritation, he explained. Ordinary baking soda moistened and applied to the bite is also effective and not in the least dangerous. Ammonia, Dr. Felton said, will cure very quickly but is more dangerous to use. Only a drop should be put on the bite and not allowed to spread as the ammonia is apt to burn the flesh the same as acid, especially if it is strong. Alcohol, water or anything which tends to cool the skin, and keep the mosquito victim from scratching the bite, will help. The only infection that can come from the ordinary mosquito is that which results from the scratching and opening the wound. Few cases of malaria develop in Wisconsin, Dr. Felton said, as the malaria carrying mosquito does not exist in this section of the country. Dr. Felton advised that all cans and barrels containing rain water be emptied, and urged general cleaning of premises where the insects are likely to breed. Draining of pools, covering stagnant water with oil, and cleaning of lake shores also was advised.

REGISTRATION AT TRADE SCHOOL TO START ON TUESDAY

New Equipment Increases Facilities of Vocational Institution

Vocational school, which opens Sept. 2, will have Herbert Hellig for its director during the coming year in place of W. S. Ford who has been given a year's leave of absence. Mr. Ford and his family will leave Monday by automobile for New York where Mr. Ford will attend Columbia university. Mr. Hellig has begun his new work.

All new students will be enrolled beginning at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. Students who were in attendance last year will enroll Wednesday. Several additions have been made in the equipment of the school and includes machinery in the woodworking department, which makes it the finest of its kind in the north central part of the state. Another and larger press has been installed in the printing room. The electrical department has added new equipment and Clyde

APPLETREE OWNERS OUT TO CATCH FRUIT THIEVES

Residents of the north end of Oneida-st are planning to keep a nightly vigil until they catch apple thieves who are stripping the trees of their fruit. Yards have been visited almost every night by persons who use clubs to bring down the apples and not only steal the fruit but do considerable damage as well. Owners have been awakened in the middle of the night and attempted to pursue the thieves but they always managed to disappear.

Cavert has been employed as full time instructor in the department. For the past two years Mr. Cavert had been employed only part time. The building has been cleaned, painted and varnished and is in fine condition for the opening of school.

Courses are offered the boys in machine shop, electrical work, cabinet making, carpentry, drafting, printing and industrial geography, and a study of occupations. The girls are offered a home making course which includes sewing, cooking, millinery, home nursing and physical education, and the commercial course which includes bookkeeping, shorthand writing, salesmanship, commercial arithmetic and business English.

The evening school classes will be enrolled the week of Sept. 29 to Oct. 3, for the fall term.

Rain Unearths Forgotten Road In Apple Creek

The heavy rainfall of last week unearthed an old corduroy road at Apple Creek that had been forgotten for years. The downpour resulted in washouts that made the timbers bare. Rudolph Stammer of Apple Creek says that the corduroy road that had been filled in with dirt a number of years ago is the same on which he drove 68 years ago when he came to this county with his parents. He later worked on the road which is said to have extended as far as Lake Superior. An experience of his while working on the road in Oconto-co was the discovery of an old flintlock musket in the hollow of a cedar tree which had walled in the washout.

The central hall of London's Law Courts recently was cleaned and redecorated for the first time in 65 years.

Highway Commissioner Scores Governor for Alleged Misrepresentations

Madison—"Governor Blaine is deliberately attempting to deceive the people of Wisconsin in his campaign against the state highway department by claiming that the highway commission has power to levy taxes for road purposes," W. "The highway commission has not the slightest power to levy taxes any more than the governor has," declared Mr. Hotchkiss. ## DAWES AND BRYAN FURNISH FIREWORKS OF FALL CAMPAIGN

Vice Presidential Nominees
Chief Spellbinders in National Race

BY CHARLES STEWART

Washington—The candidates' "acceptance speeches" out of the way, politicians regard

STEWART

That is to say, candidates' "acceptance speeches" are now being made. The candidates are now being "accepted" by the voters. The candidates are now being "accepted" by the voters.

Plenty of restraint is looked for on the other hand, from President Coolidge. This isn't pleasing to the Republican "old guard." They think the president ought to come out and show himself.

Chairman Butler of the national committee feels otherwise. He favors a very quiet "White House porch campaign" and all the indications are the president agrees with him. There's friction in Republican circles over this, nevertheless.

Vice Presidential Candidate Dawes is expected to furnish most of the Republican fireworks.

It's anticipated that Candidate Davis' campaign will be vigorous but very dignified. Just as Candidate Dawes will supply the Republican pyrotechnics, so will Candidate Bryan furnish them for the Democrats. But there will not be so wide a spread between Candidate Dawes' and candidate Bryan's activities as between Candidate Coolidge's and Candidate Dawes'.

Some politicians say Candidate Davis realizes he's GOT to assert himself pretty energetically or Candidate Bryan will overshadow him.

Leading Democrats are reported not entirely pleased with the way Senator Walsh defended Davis against complaints of the latter's professional affiliations. They feel that it was n't tactful in the senator to mention murder, treason and fraud as offenses a lawyer doesn't necessarily sympathize with simply because he has defended clients charged with them.

In fact, all isn't harmony in the Democratic ranks any more than in the Republican. It was proved by the elimination of J. Bruce Kremer as vice chairman when the national committee was reorganized directly after the Davis "acceptance speech."

This looked a little too much like a reopening of the Smith-McAdoo fight, considering that Kremer was McAdoo's floor lieutenant at the New York convention, to pass unnoticed. As the contest takes shape, the old line party managers, on both sides, are confidentially conceding that they think the Progressives would have decidedly the best of the situation—if they, the managers, believed Progressiveism were anywhere nearly as strong as their respective old-line groups. This, however, they don't admit.

Both old parties do say they think LaFollette may run second but that's because they are trying to minimize the chances of the opposition group of old-liners—not that they're trying to "play up" LaFollette.

But both sides recognize in LaFollette and Wheeler a pair of first-class rough-and-tumble campaigners, backed, at least at present, by a united group of supporters.

ON THE SCREEN

PAGAN PASSIONS

Pagan Passions, a soul-stirring photodrama of China and California, commenced a 3 days' engagement today at the Elite Theatre.

The cast is a notable one and contains the names of such popular screen artists as Wyndham Standing, Rosemary Theby, Tully Marshall, Sam DeGrasse, Raymond McKee, Juns Elvidge and Barbara Bedford.

The clever Grace Sanderson Miclie wielded the pen which wrote Pagan Passions and she has never accomplished a finer piece of work. It holds the attention and rings true from the first capital to the final period. One cannot help being sorry for Drekn Langley (played by Rosemary Theby) even if her troubles were caused primarily by her own selfishness, and Billy (portrayed by Raymond McKee) is a son of whom any mother might be proud.

Collin Campbell directed the production, which is perfect down to even the smallest detail.

Pagan Passions is undoubtedly one of the outstanding photodramatic successes of the season.

EXPERT ON GIPSY LIFE WRITES STORY OF THEIR CUSTOMS

"Gypsy Passion," which will be shown at the New Bijou theatre Friday and Saturday was adapted to the screen by Jean Richopin, author of the famous novel, "Mikra," the child of the bear, and it presents an aspect of life with which he is thoroughly familiar, that of the gypsies, with whom he wandered in France and Germany for many years before he became a member of the French Academy and president of the Ligue des Gourmands. His novel, as shown on the screen, is a faithful picture of gypsy life, with the necessary romantic element thrown in—the prince who is to marry the Romany girl, but has to be found first, and eventually is found so that Romany Kate, overjoyed in having found in Ivor the

Coolidge Luck Keeps Democrats Worried

BY HARRY B. HUNT

Washington—That intangible, mystical something that dogs the footsteps of Cal Coolidge, that eerie influence which seems to give him all the "breaks" and for want of a better description has been designated as "Coolidge Luck." It is getting on the nerves of the Democrats.

They were talking it over the other day up at Democratic headquarters. What could be done about it? Wasn't there some way by which the freaks of fate which seem always to play into Coolidge's hands could be blocked?

After these speculations had proceeded fruitlessly for half an hour, one of the leaders, accepting as futile any effort to identify and waylay or kidnap the Coolidge good-luck charm, exclaimed:

"Aw—What's the use chewing over Coolidge's luck? That doesn't get us anywhere. What we've got to do is find out what can help Davis. What does he need most?"

"I'll tell you," came the quick answer. "He needs a rabbit's foot."

Well, it's finally found. Not the back into circulation several millions of the huge and heavy old "cart-wheel" silver dollars which have lain for years deep down in the treasury vaults.

Through the west silver dollars never have lost favor as a circulating medium. Any kind of dollars there have been most welcome.

But down east, where trousers are held up by belts instead of suspenders, hard cold cash is a handicap. It's too heavy, causes an unsightly sag in the waist-line and a disagreeable weight in the pocket.

Largely because of this physical objection to them, cart-wheel dollars have been almost unknown hereabouts for years. Crisp new paper dollars, or even paper dollars not crisp and new, have been preferred and provided. Silver dollars east of the Alleghenies have been virtually non-existent. The few that did bob up from time to time, brought in by visitors from the west, were regarded as curiosities.

Now, however, right on the eve of Charles Bryan's notification, the east is deluged with silver dollars.

Immediately the "silver campaign" of the older Bryan is recalled, least, which didn't like that campaign

STOLEN MONEY ORDERS MAY CIRCULATE HERE

Appleton business men will do well to be careful about postal money orders they are endorsing these days, for a bulletin received at the Appleton postoffice calls attention to a theft of 400 money order forms at Whitehall, Wis., last Wednesday. The serial number of the blanks run from 94,001 to 94,400. Those cashing money orders of that description may find themselves short.

any better than it likes silver dollars, at once "smells a mouse."

"Humph! Bryan and silver! We don't like silver. Therefore—"

Either somebody in the treasury is mighty foxy, or else he pulled the nearest accident in political psychology the nation ever knew.

FIELDS TOO WET FOR BINDERS; USE SCYTHES AND CRADLE

A resurrection of the farm implements of two or three generations ago has been one of the unlooked for results of the unprecedented rainfall of the last three weeks.

With the ground so wet and soggy that no modern machinery can be used in the harvest, many farmers have brought down from the attic the scythes and cradles of an earlier day and are using them to reap the grain that is threatening to rot in the fields.

The new-old method is proving successful too, according to farmers who have tried it, although unfamiliarity with use of the implements has resulted in many backaches and blisters.

Fields in many sections of this county are under water or are bog-like with moisture. In some the small grains have been beaten down, and in others grain already shocked has had no chance to dry and has to be moved to prevent sprouting.

SAY BROTHERS KILLED PARENTS

Benjamin Dorschheimer (above) and his brother Chester Arthur Dorschheimer.

Lancaster, Pa.—District Attorney Wissler is checking all the details of the story told by Frank Dorschheimer and his two sisters on the basis of which Benjamin and Arthur Chester Dorschheimer are held.

The latter two are accused by their brother of murdering their father and mother 14 years ago.

While the stories proved sufficient to send the brothers to trial, state officials doubt whether the evidence will be sufficient to push the case against the defendants.

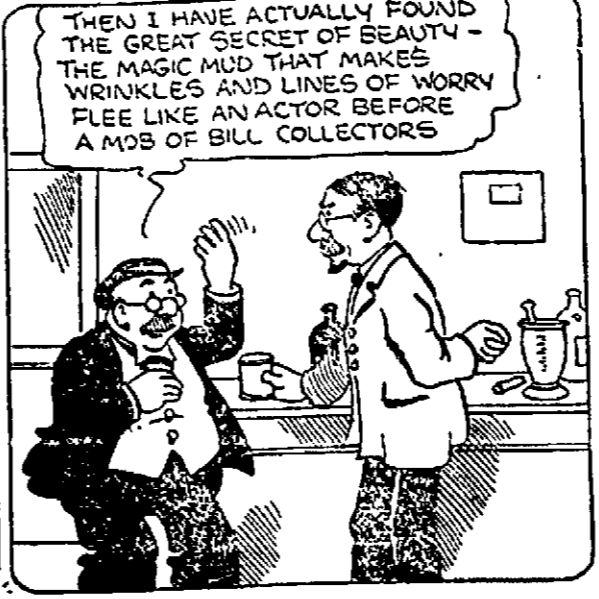

The story of the alleged murders was told after a quarrel among various members of the family.

Broadway Flattens Hardest Hitter In Lightweight Ranks

Jack Bernstein, Mediocre Performer, Comes Back After Vicentini Has Him Floored.

New York—Have the white lights got Luis Vicentini? Broadway's pale sundogers say yes. The holl-popping South American lightweight was beaten recently by Jack Bernstein, a mediocre performer. Vicentini had his mah on the floor, on the threshold of a knockout, early in the fight, only to let him come back and win out.

Vicentini's energy, and stamina waned rapidly during the closing stages. Broadway's star-gazers weren't surprised. "No wonder. Fast sleeping with giddy blondes in cabarets never turned out any Samsons."

Vicentini is a handsome airhead, with cameo-cut features and dancing eyes. Carpenter looks like the plumber's helper in comparison.

As Maize the manicurist murmurs, "A dame that wouldn't fall for that guy don't deserve an affair."

Vicentini gets plenty of amorous mail, heavily scented. The night he knocked out Rocky Kansas a sweet, young thing with a boyish silhouette and a mannish swagger, rushed to tie ropes and squeezed him ecstatically.

Vicentini blushed profusely and was clearly provoked.

"But don't get the notion he's shocked," whispered a ringsider. "What's worrying him is how his other sweeties are going to take this public demonstration."

Broadway "gets" a lot of the punch throwers. It came near getting Dempsey when he fought Brennan a couple of years ago. It had young Pancho Villa on the run for months until the Filipino got hep to himself and settled down. It got Jack Sharkey and Al Reich and helped knock Joe Lynch off the bantamweight throne.

Whether it has actually got Vicentini remains to be seen. Maybe Broadway life contributed to his defeat at the hands of Bernstein and maybe it didn't. If it did Vicentini may have brains enough to snap out of it.

Even in defeat against Bernstein, the South American, at times, looked the part of a coming champion.

Vicentini has something the other lightweight challengers lack—a Thor-like punch.

Unlike Firpo, his compatriot, he is young and plastic, and training plus hard work will bring him finesse and a well-rounded ability.

His knockout of the granite man, Kansas, and his ability to put the fast-moving Bernstein down for a near knockout shows that he is one of the game's hardest hitters.

Ring fans shoot the works on the hitters. Scientific boys, for all the high praise the experts bestow on them, draw little play at the gate.

Vicentini has a million dollar future. But it won't be worth a run-down rubber heel if he continues to train on Broadway.

HOW DO THEY DO IT?

On a recent fishing trip with a friend in one of the surrounding lakes I happened to be casting while my partner trolled. We had been out about a half hour or more when I suddenly hooked up to a three pound large mouth bass and about five minutes later my good friend felt the little message from the other end of the line and it happened to be a pickered weighing around four and one half pounds. Upon bringing the fish to the boat we discovered that this hungry little pickered had swallowed a wooden plug about 4 inches long with three treble gang hooks on it. Evidently the "pickie" came up in back of the lure and as the boat was traveling slowly made sure he was going to have a feed and get it while the getting was good and swallowed the lure, hooks and all. In fact we had to perform a surgical operation on this four pounder to remove the lure.

This goes to show that when a game fin is hungry or "bitin'" as some of the old timers call it, he will strike at most any lure that looks like a feed. However, this is the first time in all of my fishing experience that I have ever seen a game fin swallow a wooden plug like this one did.

NEWSHOUNDS SEEK REVENGE IN TILT WITH K-C MILLMEN

Press-Gazette Club Has Heavy Week End Schedule with Kimberly, Sheboygan

Green Bay—The Newshounds will be out to avenge their defeats over the last weekend at the hands of the Kimberly-Clarks and Sheboygan Press-Gazettes, in which games they were beaten with regulars missing from their lineup.

The Publishers will have every member of the team in action again this week, and Saturday afternoon will meet the Paper Makers in a return game at Kimberly and feel confident of evening up their series in this clash.

MEET SHEBOYGAN SUNDAY One Sunday afternoon the Sheboygan Press-Telegram will meet the Publishers in a return game at Bellevue League park. This is the team that handed the Newshounds their 11 to 2 defeat at Sheboygan last Sunday.

The Publishers still have this defeat down deep in their craws and their opponents will find a different baseball team when they meet the Newshounds in their second diamond clash here Sunday.

The Newshounds starting Wednesday are packing several hard practice drills through and with their regulars all back in action, should score a victory in both of their games Saturday and Sunday.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Two hard games face the Paper-makers Sunday and Monday. They clash with the Falls at Menasha on the Sabbath and invade Oshkosh Saturday. The score with the Twin City tribe is even up to date, each having won and lost two, but the Appleton crew has a defeat to wipe out against the Ihlig Washers. The schedule showed an open date on Monday which gives the Smithmen a chance to play off a game postponed from several weeks ago.

Post-Crescents continue to lead the City Twilight league by a comfortable margin, but it looks as though they may have some hard competition for the rest of the season. Several of the other teams in the loop have given up hope of overtaking the leaders, but seem willing to contribute their best men to any team scheduled to oppose the Printers. Up to date even this has failed to defeat the Ink-slingers and they look for an easy win.

Riverview Country club suffered another defeat at the hands of Green Bay Country club golfers over the past week end, chiefly through the efforts of Frank Kerwin. The Riverview team lost its club match at Green Bay by a scant margin of six points.

Every dog has its day and the Y. M. C. A. has combined forces with the Post-Crescent to see that the barnyard golfer will be no exception to this rule. A city championship tournament has been scheduled for Sept. 6 here, and the number of entries pouring in attests to the popularity of the sport in this neighborhood. Entries close Sept. 3, and anyone desiring to compete for the championship and the gold, silver and bronze medals offered as prizes should hasten to get his name in either to A. P. Jensen at the "Y" or to the Sports Editor of the Post-Crescent.

Washington Fails To Take Opportunity And Bows To Browns, 8 To 6

Yankees Split Doubleheader With Indians, Losing First, 1 to 0, and Copping Second, 5 to 4.

With opportunity knocking loudly, Washington failed to respond to the call and Thursday the Senators are six points back of the league leading Yanks who split a doubleheader with the Indians, losing the first game, 1 to 0, and taking the second, 5 to 4, while the Capital city crew lost to the Browns in an 11-inning contest, 8 to 6.

Cobbs' Detroit club, in third place, three and one half games back of New York, could do no better than split even with the Red Sox in Boston, getting the verdict in the opener, 5 to 4. The hitting of Harry Heilmann and Cobb figured largely in his contest. Quinn stopped them short in the second game allowing nine scattered hits and three runs while the Sox gathered six runs for their portion.

The White Sox and the Athletics divided two games in Philadelphia. Harry Hooper of the Sox hit a homer with the bases full in the fourth inning of the first game, which went to the Chicago club, 12 to 9. Connie Mack pitched Baumgartner in the second game, the south paw's portended slants stopping the White Sox batters short in their tracks. The Athletics won, 3 to 1. In the National league with only two games scheduled no material change occurred in the league hitting. The defeat of Pittsburgh by the Phillies, 7 to 6, caused the Pirates to lose a half game as the league leading Giants remained idle. Pittsburgh now trails the Clan McGraw four and one half games.

Brooklyn, in third place was not scheduled, thereby gaining a half game on the Pirates in second place, two and one half games in front of the Dodgers.

Allan Rothorn of the Cardinals held the Cubs to six well scattered hits in the Windy City and took the first game of the series, 3 to 0.

The Washington Senators are due to meet the Yanks in the first game of their series here Thursday.

Newark, N. J.—Arthur Spencer, bicycle champion of America, defeated Peter Moeskops of Holland, bicycle champion of the world, in two out of three heats in a mile race.

Bridgeport, Conn.—Jack Delaney, Bridgeport middleweight, knocked out Frank Moody of Wales in the sixth round of a scheduled 12-round bout.

CLEVER DODGING SAVES STRIBLING FROM BERLENBACH

Draw Decision in Six-round Bout May Result in Another Match, Report

By Associated Press

New York—The decision of a draw in the six-round bout between Young Stribling of Macon, Ga., and Paul Berlenbach of New York, may bring about another match between these two fighters, it was predicted Thursday.

Stribling's cleverness counteracted the aggressiveness of Berlenbach. The Georgia boxer scored repeatedly with a left jab and occasionally sent over a hard right cross. Berlenbach carried the fight to the southerner in the last four rounds and with a series of lefts to the head in the fourth round rocked the Georgian to the heels.

When the men came to close quarters Berlenbach's smashing body blows slowed the clever Stribling considerably. Near the end of the third round Berlenbach caught Stribling with a glancing left to the nose, drawing blood. From the fourth round to the finish Berlenbach was the aggressor but found his opponent an elusive target. Stribling's ability to get out of range of Berlenbach's big guns saved him from serious damage.

Among the prizes offered are sporting goods, wearing apparel, automobile accessories, fountain pens and a number of other articles, some of which will go to the winners of the general shoot and others will be reserved for club members only.

Merchants and firms who contributed follow: Schlager Hardware Co., Langstadt Electric Co., Sylvester and Nielsen, J. E. Voigt Drug store, Marx Jewelry store, Appleton Sport Shop, Appleton Tire shop, A. Galpin Sons Hardware, Thiede Good Clothes, Matt Schmidt and Sons, Hughes Clothing Co., Fox River Hardware Co., Appleton Firestone Co., South Bend Bait Co., Charles Schultz and Son, Neenah, Geenen's Dry Goods store and the Appleton Superior Knitting works.

This marks a long step in the progress of trapshooting in Appleton and the sport promises to get on a firm basis if this means of fostering interest is continued. The range of the Appleton Angling and Shooting club has undergone many improvements this season and a number of new members have joined. Almost every week sees new faces at the traps and practice shoots are getting to be weekly events.

ARCTIC MUSHERS MUST BE VIGILANT TO REMAIN ALIVE

One of Greatest Hazards of North Is Lack of Timber for Firewood

By Associated Press
Nenana, Alaska—The "musher" in the Arctic Circle, where winter prevails about eight months out of the year, must never relax vigilance if he would survive the perils peculiar to the region.

To the explorer, prospector, scientist, trapper or hauler of mail and supplies who must go north of the Yukon river basin, one of the greatest winter hazards is the lack of timber for firewood. In some localities only timber is aspen, commonly called poplar, scrub spruce and stunted brush. When a man faces 50 degrees below zero in sleeping bag and canvas tent, he requires a big log fire and abundant fuel to keep it going. When the Arctic blizzard sweeps down, man and beast are compelled to seek shelter.

In the bitterest cold few lunks can withstand the "scorching" atmosphere that appears to sear them like a flame while the blood is turning to ice. "Frozen" lunks are no uncommon, but there are certain precautions that minimize the danger.

The equipment includes three pairs of heavy woolen socks on each foot; underwear and shirt of wool, but of medium weight; mittens augmented by buckskin slippers and a drill parka, its hood faced with wolverine fur, which does not gather frost and freeze where the breath strikes it. The muskrat or beaver cap has flaps to pull down over the ears and under the chin. The shoes frequently are moose-hock mukluks.

At no time must any portion of the flesh save the eyes be exposed to the frost, and even the eyes must be protected when facing a blizzard. Travelers usually augment this "light" equipment with a complete suit of reindeer furs.

Submission to the cold of the Arctic has a different effect than might be imagined. Instead of a shivering and a gradual agonizing process of freezing, the frost overcomes one suddenly and almost painlessly. There is a numbness in the most exposed portions, like the feet, legs and hands. Later the jaw becomes stiff, nearly immobile. A minute's exposure of a partly cold hand to low temperature causes the fingers to become stiff and without feeling. It is as if they had gone to sleep. The man in danger of death from freezing is overtaken by a rather pleasant lethargy.

A danger is found in becoming overheated and then trying to cool off. Even when the temperature is 50 below, one's body perspires if all orifices of the clothing are closed. If there are any holes in the equipment, the cold penetrates like the flame from a blow-pipe, boring in rather than spreading.

One may have a spot the size of a dime frozen on a finger where there is a hole in glove or mitten, and the rest of the hand then becomes numb. In stopping for rest, the uninitiated often tarry too long, and on rising wonder why the limbs refuse to function with their wonted suppleness. After several such halts, further progress becomes a struggle, and unless a fire is available immediately the chances of freezing are great.

Frozen hands or toes are treated in the time-honored way of rubbing them with snow until the circulation is restored.

Horses used to carry outfits into the interior of Alaska are protected from lung-freezing by a covering like a nosebag, through which the air is filtered of its biting frost before it is breathed. Nature further guards these horses by causing the hair on their face to grow until by spring they resemble fur-bearing animals.

JAP LIGHT CRUISERS

SHOW DEFECTS IN TRIAL

By Associated Press
Tokyo—Japanese naval authorities are anxious about the performances of some of their newest light cruisers, which are being launched at the rate of two a year by domestic ship yards. Newspaper reports of defects are substantially confirmed by well informed experts.

The light cruiser, Tama, 5,500 tons, developed engine trouble recently during her trials. It is understood, and a few days previously the smaller cruiser Yubare showed similar defects in her trials.
